About the College

In the year 1932, a group of dedicated alumni of the Osmania University founded the Osmania Graduates' Association (OGA) and formed the exhibition society with a view to harness the talents of graduates towards integrated development of Telangana region by the promotion of education. With an aim to encourage industrial and economic sectors of Hyderabad, OGA formed the exhibition society and started conducting the All India Industrial Exhibition every year. The revenue generated is used to sponsor education institutions with a motto to cater value based education to all weaker sections of the society in Telangana region. Among such institutions Sardar Patel College is one which is established in the year 1970, at Secunderabad. It offers 13 courses across four streams namely Arts, Commerce & Banking, Science & Management.

From the time of its commencement, the college management is unfailingly displaying devotion and sincerity in maintaining high standards of academic discipline which is bound to make students able citizens of the nation.

Department of English

The department of English has its identity since, the establishment of the college in 1970. The department with an illustrious history prides itself in having the distinction of being a forerunner in offering quality education in English language. As part of value based education, English department conducts various activities to amplify the vision of the students. In connection with this, English department established "English Forum" to invigorate the skills of the students and enhance their capabilities. It constantly engages students to participate in many literary activities in and out of the campus. The vibrant and qualified faculty is actively involved in modifying according to the new teaching trends and imparting the requisite skills to the students to come out successfully with qualitative education.

Our college is in a festive mood to commemorate Golden Jubilee celebrations this year. On this occasion, our magnanimous Management, vibrant Staff and effervescent young Students are preparing themselves to bring an atmosphere of fest in the college. With the encouragement from the Management and the Principal, Department of English has taken up an initiative to conduct a one day National Workshop on "Research Methodology in English Language & Literature".

About the Workshop:

In order to enhance the quality of education in the field of higher education, UGC is encouraging faculty to take up research and publish papers. It has made the research degree as one of the essential qualifications for all individuals to be appointed as Assistant Professor at UG and PG level. To talk about the word research, it is an attempt to add original contribution to the knowledge of truth. It is a search for accurate truth and new knowledge through arguments and findings. To sum up, research is a serious scholarly composition and objectified in its presentation. It must have a logical development, which evokes the researcher's findings, using the techniques of observation and interpretation. So, to be a good researcher, it is necessary to have a basic foundation on Research methods. The study of Research Methodology provides us the necessary training in choosing methods, materials, scientific tools and training in techniques relevant for the problem chosen.

Keeping in view, the importance of research for teaching faculty, department of English decided to conduct a workshop on Research Methodology which would provide adequate knowledge for faculty and aspiring teachers.

Objectives of Workshop

1. To instill passion towards research
2. To bring awareness about various tools in research design
3. To create awareness about the importance of paper publications
